FIFTY YEARS' CONTINUOUS SERVICE TO THE OKANAGAN VALLEY

"There is no French-Canadian problem," bluntly states Captain Elmore Philpott, in his column on the editorial page. Captain Philpott recently returned from a two-week trip through Quebec, and presents an interesting account of the French-Canadian people's attitude.

There should be no division about the necessity of carrying the plebiscite. There has been a divided opinion about the wisdom of holding a plebiscite. But our self respect, our national prestige, and above all the necessities of our future war effort demand an overwhelming vote in the affirmative. If the plebiscite is defeated or even if the vote is half hearted, we shall stand ashamed in the presence of our allies and an object for gloating scorn of our enemies.

Pierre Laval, the arch traitor of freedom in France, is back in the French cabinet. Under severe German pressure, Pétain had to bring back this friend of Hitler. Pétain had to make a choice. No longer could he stave off the critical hour of decision. Diplomatic efforts of the United Nations to win Pétain over or to remain neutral have suffered a major defeat. Axis diplomacy has won. Pétain has been given the efficiency of German relentless pressure. As vice-president, Laval has complete control of the French Fleet. The writing is on the wall. Hitler will get the French ships unless American and British ships get them first.

Evidence brought to light at the Riom trials reveal General de Gaulle as one of the great authorities on mechanized warfare. The German Army had merely adopted and put into practice the theory of mechanized warfare developed by de Gaulle. He had outlined in books the complete strategy and tactics of the Blitzkrieg. For years he tried in vain to force his ideas on the French General Staff. Unfortunately now, as head of the Free French with headquarters in London, he does not command large enough forces to give scope to his military talents. Such a valuable tactician as this could be used more wisely by war councils of the United Nations.

Coal rationing can be expected about next August says the Financial Post. However, officials urge us to stow away the biggest coal pile we can this summer. Beat the deadline. Order now, they say. You will be no "hoarder" or "political enemy." Rather you will be performing a national service to order and assist delivery of a winter supply now and relieve a transportation congestion in the fall.

A comparison of Japanese production possibilities and her losses to date show that we are wearing away the enemy war machine. Allied gunners, bombardiers, torpedomen have already accounted for as much tonnage as Japan can produce in a year and a half. Japanese ships have a tonnage capacity of more than 800,000 tons of new vessels a year. Because of the steel shortage their present maximum output is probably less than 500,000 tons. The most serious losses are in her tankers. But Japan still has plenty of ships left in every category. The job for the air force is becoming increasingly difficult too.

In the conquest of Southeast Asia, Japan's commanders were able to shift planes from one target to another with extreme rapidity. They were working out from the center of a circle. The key fronts now are so widely separated—Burma, India, Australia, Central China and North Asia—that this is not possible. In any offensive operations each plane will have to perform twice the previous work. Furthermore the newly won territories all lie at the end of a long sea haul from Japan.

The first exchange of prisoners in this war took place in the Mediterranean last week. A number of British prisoners were exchanged for a much larger number of Italian prisoners. The terms reported good treatment with special privileges given to privates rather than to officers. At the moment the released prisoners are enjoying a released good rest on the sunny banks of the Nile River. A number of British personnel such as doctors and nurses were exchanged. The exchange was made on the basis of the number of prisoners held. The ratio is believed to be about five Italians to one British. The negotiations for a period of six months were conducted by Swiss officials.

An American general commands the Chinese forces defending Burma. He is Lieutenant General Joseph W. Stilwell, Chief of Staff to Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek. This commander of the Chinese Fifth and Sixth Armies is seeking to stem the advance into the fields of Burma. The American commander is no newcomer to China. He speaks their language fluently and has been many years of service in the Far East. He personally directed operations which freed the beleaguered Chinese garrison of Tientsin.

Progress Made On Apple Deal For This Year

Series Of Conferences At Vancouver Attended By Valley Men

Satisfactory progress toward completion of the 1942 apple agreement with the Dominion Government was reported by E. J. Chambers, a member of the War Measures Apple Committee, who conferred over the week end at Vancouver with Col. R. L. Wheeler, General Manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

Following Col. Wheeler's return to Ottawa, a speedy conclusion to the negotiations is looked for, Mr. Chambers added. With him during the negotiations was A. K. Loyd, General Manager of B.C. Tree Fruits Ltd.

At the Coast, Messrs. Chambers and Loyd also attended conferences between representatives from the Canadian Fruit Distributors' offices on the prairies and the sales department of B.C. Tree Fruits. Many matters connected with the marketing of fresh fruits and vegetables were discussed; particularly as applied to wartime conditions.

On recommendation from the Grades Committee, a more simplified method of packing of apricots and plums was endorsed subject to the approval of the Fruit Branch and it is possible that war necessities may further affect the pack and handling of fruits and vegetables.

Col. Wheeler, accompanied by R. L. Burrows, Secretary of the Canadian Horticultural Council, arrived in Vancouver on Sunday and attended a meeting of representatives of marketing agencies, board and allied groups and discussed fully the question of car supply for this coming season. Recommendations were agreed upon that would substantially increase minimum loads for a number of commodities in refrigerated cars.

Time will not permit Col. Wheeler to visit the Okanagan, but Mr. Burrows will spend a few days next week attending meetings throughout the valley.

E. M. Whyte, Fruit Inspector, also attended the Vancouver conferences and is expected to return on Friday.

ARMY TRAIN OPEN TO PUBLIC ON SATURDAY

$3,000,000 Worth Of Equipment To Be Displayed Here For Two Hours

More than $3,000,000 worth of army equipment—representative of the tools of war which Canada is now manufacturing in large quantities—is displayed in the ten exhibition cars of the Canadian Army train, which will be opened to the public for inspection on Saturday morning next from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The train is made up of 15 coaches, including two flat cars. The coaches are painted in the colors of the four Canadian divisions now overseas: red, blue, French grey, and maroon.

Officer commanding the train is Lieut. Col. J. E. McKenna, M.C., of Montreal, and under him is selected personnel of 60 officers and men.

On Friday afternoon the train will be on view at Kelowna, from one o'clock to 3:15, and will then move to Kelowna, where it may be seen from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. After leaving Vernon on Saturday the train will proceed to Kamloops.

CITY AIRCREW TEAM MISSING IN OLD COUNTRY

Pilot Officer R. P. Locke, Flt. Sergt. Sanderson Are Unreported

Brief cables from the British Air Ministry received here on Thursday of last week told relatives that two more Vernon airmen serving in the Old Country with the R.C.A.F. were missing as the result of air operations on Wednesday, April 8.

As yet unaccounted for are Pilot Officer Richard P. "Dick" Locke, the son of Major and Mrs. P. J. Locke, and Flt. Sergt. Jack Sanderson, the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Sanderson, whose wife, Mrs. Violet Sanderson, resides here.

These two airmen, who have been together as members of the crew of a Wellington, on numerous bombing flights over enemy-occupied territory, were respectively the pilot and wireless operator-gunner and their exploits were mentioned several times in cable newspaper dispatches. Whether or not they were together in a flight on April 8 is unknown, as no word other than the cables has yet been received.

Hopes held by their families that they may have baled out to safety are shared by their host of friends in this city and district. Both men made their homes here for years before enlisting.

P.O. Locke, a graduate in agriculture from the University of British Columbia, was employed as fieldman for Bulmans Ltd. before joining up in September of 1940. Flt. Sergt. Sanderson graduated in March of 1941 and went overseas the following month.

SALVAGE COMMITTEE SELECTED IN VERNON

P. Mackenzie Ross Heads Committee—Meeting To Be Called Shortly

After several weeks of negotiation by Red Cross officials, a salvage committee, which will assume complete charge of all salvage efforts in Vernon and district, has been formed.

President Gordon Fox of the Red Cross announced this week that the committee will be headed by P. Mackenzie Ross, with whom will be associated three Red Cross members, C. W. Morrow, R. H. Mawhinney, and Miss Elsie Edmonds.

A meeting will be called shortly to which representatives of various organizations in Vernon and from the outlying districts will be invited.

FOUR RECRUITS LEAVE FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

Only four recruits enlisted in the Canadian Active Army at the Vernon Recruiting Centre during the past week. The recruits left for Vancouver on Wednesday evening to be posted to training centres.

Recruits were: J. E. Bird, D. L. Gattrell, A. W. Bryden, Penitentiary, and O. Jackson, Kelowna.

WE'RE SORRY

As yet an unsolved mystery is the whereabouts of a package of photographs of Saturday's battalion parade and presentation of trophies at the Military Training Centre. These pictures were forwarded Sunday to an engraving plant at Vancouver for reproduction, but disappeared. Long distance telephone enquiries Wednesday afternoon failed to solve the puzzle.

The pictures or duplicates will be reproduced in The Vernon News of Thursday, April 23.

The various competitions are designed to coincide with each two-month training period. Owing to the pressure of time, the full list of awards was not made on Saturday, but will be by the next prize day. Arrangements are under way to have finals in the sports and presentation of trophies in Paken Park so that the general public may attend.

A brisk spring wind whipped across the parade ground and a warning sun shone down as some 1,000 men in training at the Battalion parade promptly at 1:30 o'clock Saturday. All in Indian dress, they were drawn up on three sides of the square.

Arriving on the site, Lt.-Col. Grant greeted a small gathering of business men and then addressed the parade, expressing his and the Centre's thanks for the cooperation received from the citizens in commencing the program. Donation of the trophies, Lt.-Col. Grant described as a "magnificent gesture," and commented that, in total war, not only the army but all the people is engaged.

Mayor A. O. Wilde spoke briefly as did R. W. Ley, as chairman of the citizens committee. Those who

Exhibition Army Train Here Saturday

Canadians from Coast to Coast are displaying tremendous interest in the 15-car Canadian Army train exhibition, which will be open for public inspection in Vernon on Saturday morning, next from 10 to 12 o'clock noon. The train will be at Kelowna on Friday evening, April 17, from 8 p.m. to 10 p.m. and at Kamloops from 1:15 p.m. to 3:15 p.m. on April 17. The above composite illustration shows (top left) an interior view of one of the coaches which shows an exhibit by the Canadian Dental Corps. (Top right) Mrs. F. Laurin, of Hull, Quebec, the 500-000th visitor to board the train. (Lower left) a view of the train while it was visiting a small rural community in Northern Ontario; and (lower right) a view of the famous Valentine tank shown on one of the two flat cars. According to the latest unofficial Army vocabulary a light utility car seen in the centre of the flat car is a "Jeep". At left everyone will recognize a Universal Carrier and at the right is an eight hundredweight personnel truck.

Winning Platoons At M.T.C. Awarded Cups At Ceremony

First Of Sports Programs Concluded With Battalion Parade

Saturday afternoon last, at the Vernon Military Training Centre, was "honors day," featured by presentation of a glittering array of trophies to platoons winning competitions for sports and general proficiency.

The ceremony was the first arranged under the program recently organized by the Officer Commanding at the Centre, Lt.-Col. A. Hamilton Grant, members of his staff, and a Vernon citizens' committee.

FORMER PASTOR HONORED BY LYTTON INDIANS

Rev. A. R. Lett Made Indian Chief—Presented With Illuminated Address

There was a picturesque scene in the Community Hall, on Shulus Indian Reserve, Easter Monday, when Indians, young and old, gathered together on the occasion of the Shulus Anglican W.A. Rev. A. R. Lett, former principal of St. George's Indian Residential School, at Lytton, was made an Indian Chief. He will be known to the Indians as Chief Numplete (Priest Teacher).

Mr. Lett was presented with the following document during the ceremony: "To Rev. A. R. Lett, L.S.T. We, the Indians of the bands, and chiefs of Shulus, Canyon, Potlatch, Spences Bridge, Pokasset, and Ashcroft, wish you to know of our regret in losing you from your true home and very important position as principal of St. George's Indian Residential School, Lytton. REV. A. R. LETT (Continued on Page 4, Col. 5)

KELOWNA GIRL NAMED QUEEN

Miss Barbara Cook To Represent Valley At Wenatchee Blossom Festival

KELOWNA, B.C., April 15.—Miss Barbara Cook, 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cook, of Kelowna, is the Blossom Queen of the Okanagan Valley. She will leave Kelowna next Thursday to represent the Valley at Wenatchee, where the annual Blossom Festival is being held, April 24 and 25.

A three-man committee of judges comprised of F. W. White, Board of Trade Vice-President, Harry Witt, Junior Board President, and Les Roadhouse, Tourist Bureau representative, chose Queen Barbara from a large number of charming young contestants at the Kelowna High School, last Saturday morning.

Final details of the program for the two-day event have not been received and at time of going to press, Okanagan Tourist Bureau officials are uncertain whether Queen Barbara will be accompanied by the Vernon Kiltie band or a Canadian Legion delegation as in past years.

CO-OPERATION OF HOUSEWIVES SOUGHT

Miss Byrne Hope Sanders, Director of Consumers' Service, is seeking information which only the homemaker and housekeeper can give. She is asking particularly to shortages on meat, particularly beef, and also how prices compare for this commodity. She has asked for comments from women everywhere.

The Consumers' Service is depending on the voluntary cooperation of all women to make this work effective. Mrs. B. F. Gummow, Member Women's Advisory Committee War-time Prices and Trade Board, asks that any information on this matter be sent to her.

Red Cross Quota Set For Vernon And District

Vernon and district's quota in the forthcoming Red Cross national appeal for funds has been set at $10,000. Word to this effect was received this week by President Gordon Fox, of the Vernon branch, from the B.C. campaign chairman, H. R. Cottingham, of Vancouver. Mr. Fox, expressing confidence that the quota would be met and even exceeded, declared that a strong organization will be necessary.

Several committees have been set up in Vernon for the campaign. This district includes such outlying centres as Lumby, Oyuana, Okanagan Centre, and probably Paken.

The executive committee chairman is Everett Clarke; rural committee chairman, J. N. McPherson; publicity, Walter Bennett; residential committee, Miss Alice Stevens; business district committee for Vernon, D. G. Skinner; secretary, Mrs. P. G. deWolf.

Each of these committee chairmen will be assisted by numerous members. Offers of service will be gratefully accepted, and many workers are needed. The total objective for Canada has been set by the National Red Cross Committee at $6,000,000. British Columbia has been asked to raise 10 percent of this or $600,000. There is, however, every expectation that British Columbia

Board Of Trade Committee To Secure "Yes" Vote To Be Selected

Stuart J. Martin is to head the Vernon Board of Trade Committee to get out the vote on the plebiscite on April 27.

This was the decision at a meeting of the committee of the Vernon Board of Trade on Tuesday afternoon. President J. E. Montague announced that he contacted Mr. Martin and had his consent to organize and get out the vote. Mr. Martin will name his own committee and this insures a hustling organization which will do an excellent job.

Mr. Martin is to have a free hand. There will be committee room fitted with telephones and there will be automobiles available to take voters to the polls who are unable to get there other ways.

Melville Beaven reported that he had contacted the Hon. Grover Stirling, M.P., who it was expected would organize a campaign. Mr. Stirling reported that he had sent out 19 letters to newspapers and leading men in various sections of the riding and he would give every assistance he could.

The Board discussed at considerable length the holding of a public meeting and it was decided to leave this in the hands of the committee composed of J. S. Monk and Melville Beaven. On Wednesday they found that Mr. Stirling would be leaving for Ottawa soon, and as Hon. K. C. MacDonald is in Victoria the prospect of getting speakers who would attract a large gathering was not good. Therefore it was decided not to hold a public meeting.

HIGHWAY WORK

It was reported to the Board that the highway between Sicamous and Salmon Arm is to be developed and considerable money spent on it with the idea of erecting a bridge at Sicamous and diverting the Big Bend Highway from the Mara route. In order to ascertain the facts, the Board is writing to the Hon. Ralph Bruhn, Minister of Public Works, sending a copy of the letter to Hon. K. C. MacDonald.

The Kelowna and Penticton Boards of Trade are asked to make similar reports.

CITY SITE OF RESERVE CAMP

University C.O.T.C. First Unit To Commence Spring Training In City

The annual camp periods for Canadian Army (Reserve) units will be held in Vernon, it was learned officially this week. The actual site is, however, unknown as yet.

Under canvas here from April 22 to May 15 will be the University of British Columbia's C.O.T.C. From May 17 to 31, the 9th Armored Regiment (BOD), with squadrons at Vernon, Kelowna, and Penticton, will be in camp with the 2nd Battalion Rocky Mountain Rangers. This latter unit has companies at Main Line points and in the Kootenays.

This year's will be the third camp for the R.M.R.s and the 9th Armored since these units were formed in the summer of 1940. Lt.-Col. O. J. Williams, who is also area recruiting officer, is O.C. of the 9th Armored, and Lt.-Col. A. P. Williams, of Kamloops, is O.C. of the R.M.R.s.

Attendance at the camps will be compulsory for all ranks, according to announcements made at semi-weekly parades of the Reserve units.

E. C. WEDDELL HEADS YALE CONSERVATIVES

E. C. Weddell, of Kelowna, was returned as President of the Yale Conservative Association at the annual meeting in Penticton, on Thursday of last week.

Other officers named were: Fred S. Gilbrath, of Vernon, Vice-President; A. Dawson, of Kelowna, Secretary; and C. P. Bagnall, of Vernon, and Mrs. R. B. White, of Penticton, representatives for Yale on the B.C. executive.

Speaker of the evening was Hon. Grover Stirling, M.P. for this constituency. Mr. Stirling declared that he was disturbed by the criticism of Canada's war effort heard so frequently. Canada's contribution, he said, in ships, guns, other war material, and men was praiseworthy in very many respects. Most of the criticism, he added, is unfounded.

Attending from Vernon were Gordon Lipman, J. H. Watkins, F. S. Harwood, and G. P. Bagnall.

VALLEY BALL LOOP MAY NOT FUNCTION

Wealth Of Playing Material In City And At Military Training Centre

Spring is here and summer is on its way, but as yet, nothing has been done in Vernon to form a baseball team. Usually by this time of the year the club has been formed and is practising for valley league games.

Owing to gasoline restrictions and the shortage of rubber, it would seem that any plans for a valley league are out of the question. However, nothing has been said as yet as to whether a league will function or not.

But even if a valley league is not formed, Vernon may still see some first class baseball. Still present in this city are most of the members of last year's club. Add to the Vernon ball players the number of stars from the Vernon Military Training Centre and you have a wealth of material.

Lieut. J. T. Ross, of the Training Centre, said that the centre is hoping to form two teams, one from the staff members and one from the training troops.

He added that the two teams would probably be quite willing to enter either a city league or a valley league.

It seems then that Vernon has a good chance for a fine inter-city baseball league if the city team is formed and the camp teams are available for city league baseball games.

SHUSWAP ANGLERS HAVE GOOD CATCHES

SICAMOUS, B.C., April 14.—Several fishermen from Salmon Arm and Revelstoke were on the lake Sunday with varied results. One boat of Salmon Arm anglers led the day's catch with five fish, the smallest weighing 7 1/2 pounds.

Stage Passengers In Narrow Escape

Twenty-five Persons Aboard At Time Of Accident Near Westbank

WESTBANK, B.C., April 13.—Twenty-five persons, including Hon. Grote Stirling, M.P., aboard the northbound Greyhound stage on Sunday morning, had a miraculous escape from death just after the stage had crossed Power's Creek bridge at about 8:45.

The stage, one of the latest models, was proceeding at a moderate speed, according to the passengers, toward the approach of the bridge, when apparently the steering-gear became locked, or otherwise unmanageable. Crossing the bridge in safety, the stage went through the low safety-barrier on the east side of the highway, across an almost sheer drop of some fifty feet, and came to an abrupt standstill with its nose in a low dirt-bank on the other side of this gap. Here it remained, suspended at the rear corner by one of the posts of the barrier, at the front by the low bank. On the creek side the stage leaned over at a dangerous angle, supported by the stout branch of a fir tree, the branch having pierced the roof of the stage.

It is likely that the trunk of the tree itself provided the strength to hold the stage in its position and supported its entire weight.

It is said that the driver, when he became aware of the drop into the creek which at that point takes a sudden turn before going under the bridge, had the presence of mind to instinctively put on a spurt of speed as the stage headed for the barrier, and that this was sufficient to carry the stage its entire length across the gap. Otherwise it must have turned turtle and dropped into the creek below.

Shaken and shocked, the passengers fled out of the trapped stage—the door fortunately opening enough to allow of their egress. When they saw how precarious their position had been, and the delicate balance was the vehicle, heartfelt thankfulness for their safety was expressed in all solemnity.

Hours of preparatory labor by local boys, as well as officials and employees of the company, were required to get the stage back onto terra firma could begin. Tractors, cables and blocks, and the trunks of nearby sturdy trees, were all requisitioned for the task. About 9 p.m. the stage, with surprisingly little added damage, was safely on the opposite side of the highway where it was left overnight, with a watchman in charge. With the exception of cracked windows and light injury to the metal work, little obvious damage resulted from the accident, though there may have been damage to the steering mechanism, which was not obvious to the casual spectators.

The approaches to Power's Creek bridge are dangerous, both on the east as well as the west side, and while in this case this may not have caused the accident, it has occurred in the past when such has been the cause.

Less than three weeks ago, a Greyhound stage, southbound, met with a similar accident—when steering-gear went wrong—a mile or so north of Westbank. On this occasion, however, the stage was in a comparatively safe part of the highway, and merely ran off down to a nearby field.

MANY of the materials that go to make a C.C.M. Bicycle and the machines which convert them are the same type of materials and the identical machines we are using to produce war supplies—war supplies that are vital to John Bull to help him "Finish the Job." Naturally, then, we are not making so many bicycles.

We are rigidly maintaining, however, the established high standard of C.C.M. quality and C.C.M. accuracy in the making of every last bicycle for which we can obtain material.

Not only are we maintaining quality and accuracy, but we are gaining a great new wealth of manufacturing experience and learning new methods, processes and of new materials that will be passed on to you in the C.C.M. Bicycles of the future which we will make when "Peace breaks out again."

In the meantime, You do what you can to keep your bicycle (if you have one) on the road, or, if you are a war worker, perhaps your C.C.M. dealer can get you a new C.C.M. Bicycle. You do that and we will make what bicycles we can, and at the same time plenty of war supplies to help John Bull "Finish the Job!"

MANY DELEGATES AT REGIONAL HOSPITAL MEET AT SALMON ARM

SALMON ARM, B.C., April 13.—The meeting of the Okanagan and district Regional Hospital Group held in Salmon Arm last Thursday proved interesting and helpful to those represented, W. B. Hughes-Games, of Kelowna, presided, and H. F. Parody, Salmon Arm, acted as secretary.

O. L. Jones, of Kelowna, was guest speaker of the day, and gave a very fine and comprehensive address on Municipal Group Fire Insurance.

Mr. Hughes-Games spoke on the need of accommodation in the interior hospitals for chronic cases and senility. After considerable discussion, it was agreed on motion of Mr. Richards, Enderby, and Mr. Wilson, Armstrong, that the urgent need of accommodation for chronic and senile cases in the interior be referred to the B.C. Hospital Association, at the 1942 convention.

J. A. Abrahamson, Revelstoke, stated that about 1,100 Japanese laborers would be in the vicinity of Revelstoke and that the problem of hospitalization was a serious one. The subject was discussed at length, and as none of the other hospitals had a similar problem, it was thought the better plan would be for the Revelstoke Hospital Board to take the matter up direct with the Federal authorities.

Professional courtesy came up for consideration. It was decided to submit a questionnaire to the member hospitals on this subject.

A vote of thanks was tendered to O. L. Jones, as guest speaker, and to the Salmon Arm Hospital for their hospitality.

It was decided that the next meeting be held within three months at the end of the chair at Armstrong.

Delegates present were: W. B. Hughes-Games, W. L. Logie, G. A. Melkie, Kelowna; A. Adair, W. Watson, J. Wilson, Mrs. V. P. Hopkins, Miss P. Orton, Armstrong; G. H. Reeves, C. E. Richards, Mrs. V. # LOYAL CITIZENS DO NOT HOARD!

Hoarders are people who buy and store away goods beyond their immediate needs.

They want to be in an unfair position over their neighbors.

Hoarders are traitors to their country and their fellow citizens, because by creating excessive and unnecessary demands for goods, they slow down the war effort.

There is no excuse for "panic buying" and hoarding. Everyone will have enough, if no one tries to get more than a fair share.

Hoarding must stop! Every unnecessary purchase makes it more difficult for Canada to do a full war job.

THERE'S A LAW AGAINST HOARDING

It is against the law to buy more than current needs.

Violation of the law is punishable by fines up to $5,000, and imprisonment for as long as two years.

AVOID ALL UNNECESSARY BUYING — AVOID WASTE MAKE EVERYTHING LAST THE LONGEST TIME POSSIBLE

I.O.D.E. WILL SPONSOR SHOW SHOP TO OPEN

Chapter Will Open Superfluity Shop—Two Shipments During April

Final arrangements have now been completed for the show sponsored by the I.O.D.E. to raise funds for their war work. The show, "Design for Scandal"—which is to be on May 4 and 5, has Walter Pidgeon and Rosalind Russell in the leading roles.

This week will mark the opening of a Superfluity Shop in the building formerly occupied by the Esquire Coffee Shop and loaned for this purpose to the I.O.D.E. through the courtesy of G. A. Hankey.

The idea of a Superfluity Shop is to collect articles of clothing, odd pieces of furniture and bric-a-brac which are of no further use to their present owners and offer them for sale, the total proceeds to be used for war work.

Plans are also being discussed to provide entertainment for the boys of the local Military Hospital. A beginning was made on Sunday when eleven boys from the hospital were taken out in cars, and later entertained at tea. They were most enthusiastic in their thanks for this welcome diversion, and it is expected that many such excursions can be arranged during the summer.

Two shipments have been made this month. The first, 169 articles for men in the services and for the bombed areas of Britain. The second was turned in by Mrs. Finlayson from a group of workers in Sicams and was made up of a number of beautifully tailored outfits for girls of 16 years, down to infants.

Also a third shipment of fur and leather pieces was sent, bringing the total to 243 pounds shipped since January of this year.

"DUG-OUT" AGAIN IN OPERATION AS "BAN" ON SOLDIERS IS LIFTED

With the long quarantine period behind them—during which the officers and members of the Vernon branch of the Red Cross Corps were far from the city, that popular rendezvous of the troops—the "Dug-out" re-opened on Saturday evening last.

The usual dance was held on this occasion, crowds of soldiers enjoying the recreational facilities provided for their enjoyment by the Corps.

An unfortunate incident occurred during the latter part of the evening, which, however, righted itself. The radio, part of the "Dug-out" furnishings, was taken from the premises by someone—who possibly had imbibed a little too freely. It was returned next day, Sunday, by two soldiers, who related that it was found behind the Vernon Hotel.

This radio has an interesting history, which shows the co-operation of the soldiers in regard to the "Dug-out." It will be recalled that last fall, the management of the Capitol Theatre gave shovels to the purchase of theatre tickets. Most of the soldiers in camp at the time, turned in these tokens to the committee at the "Dug-out."

In course of time, an auction was held, purchase money being these same "shovels." The "Dug-out," through the co-operation of the soldiers, had accumulated such a supply of "shovels," that they were able to out-bid anyone else when the radio went to the block. The ladies feel, therefore, that the machine really is the result of the boys' interest.

It was this radio which was temporarily removed in a spirit of hilarity on Saturday night, but which has since been returned intact.

During the four weeks' quarantine period, three or four members of the Red Cross Corps, Vernon branch, went up to the camp each night, to help in the Salvation Army Red Shield Canteen, between the hours of 9:30 and 9:50. Different shifts reported each evening, and on some afternoons also. This branch of the work was in the hands of Mrs. Flora Nicholson, who arranged the various shifts, and provided transportation for Corps members to and from the camp buildings.

Miss Anna Fulton carried on her Sunday afternoon work of organizing a "sing-song"—which had become quite a feature of the "Dug-out" program; resumed since the lifting of the "ban."

The Salvation Army, through W. Ratcliffe, supervisor, have expressed themselves to The Vernon News as being very grateful for the help received from the Red Cross Corps.

The "Dug-out" is open every evening during the week, as heretofore, also on Sunday afternoons.

Tennis Racquet Raffle For Bombed Britons—Play And Home Products Sale Pending

OKANAGAN CENTRE, B.C., April 11.—The Women's Institute held their monthly meeting in the Community Hall on April 9, the President, Mrs. P. Dixon, in the chair.

Reports of work accomplished and shipped to Kelowna Centre for Bombed Britons, were read by leaders of the three groups functioning under the auspices of the Institute. A sum of $7.35 was raised for the same cause by a draw on a tennis racquet donated by Miss B. Snyder. The winner of the draw is Mrs. B. Brixton.

A group of ladies are starting to rehearse a play to be presented on the evening of May 8, proceeds to be donated to the Salvation Army and the Hospital Auxiliary. The Institute is also planning to have a home products sale the same evening, when Mrs. Hare and Mrs. Nuysen will be in charge.

Mrs. Bond is organizing a grab-box event for the children, and small contributions will be welcomed. The Institute has donated the sum of $1 for this purpose. Hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. S. Ross and Mrs. B. Cooney. During the tea-hour, ladies of the Institute worked on quilts and other sewing for the Bombed Britons Society.

On April 8, the ladies of the local Red Cross Society were entertained at the home of Mrs. J. Brixton.

On Sunday, April 5, an Easter service was held in St. Paul's United Church here by Rev. A. Feltie. The church was nicely decorated with forsythia and daffodils. The Sunday School children gave several musical numbers, including "Spring Song," set to the music of Rubinstein's "Melody in F" rendered as a duet by Suzie Kabayashi and Karleen Hare. Three little girls, Ethel Ulrich, Valerie and Joan Van Ackeren, sang the hymn "Jesus Loves Me," very sweetly.

Home for Easter week were Miss Pat Cheesman, from St. Ann's Academy, Kamloops, and Miss Ruth Nuysen, from Vernon High School.

Miss Mary Watt, school teacher here, spent her Easter vacation at her home in Kamloops.

Mrs. Reeve, Sr., and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. G. Reeve, spent a few days at the Coast last week.

Bryan Cooney is at Shuswap Falls, working for the Hydro-Electric.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Wood, of Ewing's Landing, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Brixton, during Easter.

Miss Barbara Snyder and her sister, Mrs. Mennie, are at Kamloops, Alta., visiting their parents.

Pte. Garth Snyder spent leave here recently, but has now returned to Vancouver. His wife will continue to reside here.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Follow have returned to reside again at the Centre, where they will be welcomed by many old friends. At present, Mr. and Mrs. Follow are living in the Copeland cottage while their new house on Lakeview Avenue is being built.

Miss Caroline Kobayashi is now at home again from Vancouver.

Inquiries regarding this highway. It was felt that should the highway be changed the Okanagan Valley would suffer as much as it would from the loss of traffic if the Hope-Princeton highway is not to be completed, but work on the Hope-Princeton highway is to be rushed this spring, so that at least a certain amount of the transcontinental traffic will go through the valley.

The Board of Trade quarterly supper meeting is to be held on Wednesday, April 22, and H. J. Fosbrooke, manager of the Vernon office of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, is to be the chief speaker. A large attendance is anticipated at this meeting because there is great interest in the operations of the Board.

For the Industrial committee, J. N. McPherson reported that he had a list of the lathe in the machine shops and garages, and is working on an effort to secure some of the contracts for "bits and pieces" which have been awarded on the West Coast.

J. E. Montague reported that at the camp at the military camp on Saturday 1,000 men had been reviewed by Lt. Col. A. Hamilton Grant and the most impressive military spectacle was witnessed by a number of people. Vernon citizens had contributed a large number of cups which were presented at the ceremony and the best of good feeling prevailed.

The Board appointed Dr. H. L. Courrier and Dolph Browne as a committee to assist the Ukrainian Association to get a suitable hall for the concert on April 19 which is to stimulate interest in and secure votes for the plebiscite.

HELP THE MAN IN UNIFORM

You can help the man in uniform, merely by saving regularly. Because when you save you increase the flow of labour and material from Okanagan to war production.

And when you lend accumulated savings to the country in War Savings Certificates and war loans, you help Canada supply to our fighting men the arms and equipment they need. Seize this patriotic opportunity! Pull your full weight! Start saving NOW!

NEED FOR "YES" VOTE IN PLEBISCITE

SO MUCH has been written and spoken concerning the Dominion Government's plebiscite plan that further comment only ten days away from the date of voting might seem unnecessary.

Yet the fact remains that despite all the criticism of the proposal, despite all the politically inspired tactics, and despite the very genuine feeling among many patriotic people that the plebiscite is a political manoeuvre, the need for a mighty "Yes" vote on Monday, April 27, is urgent and should be fulfilled.

The danger is great, especially at a time so late as this, that public apathy will yet defeat the plebiscite, that a niggardly affirmative vote in the West will be counter balanced by organized opposition from different sections of Canada. That the opposition will not alone be confined to Quebec was emphatically stated by at least one member of the Dominion Cabinet, who said he knew of over 20 counties in Ontario absolutely opposed to conscription.

We have never held to the view—so widely current some weeks ago—that Prime Minister King was really hoping for defeat of the plebiscite or an indecisive result. And all suspicions of that nature should have finally been dissipated by his recent radio broadcast. But just to make doubly sure that this can not happen, all those who earnestly believed this to be the case should go to the polls and mark their ballot "Yes."

For purposes of political capital, the plebiscite always has been a poor thing, for the very clear reason that all three political parties gave definite, specific promises to the electorate that conscription for overseas service would not be introduced. Indeed, the former leader of the Conservative party, Dr. Manion, said recently that results of a survey he had made showed that public fear that the Conservatives would be the first to break their promise had been one of the major factors in the party's crushing defeat.

There would seem to be ample precedent for the view that if a majority affirmative vote is rolled up, then opposition to a nationally organized selective service plan embracing service anywhere, would be accepted by all parts of the country, after a reasonable "cooling off" period is allowed. The demonstrations of a few thousand irresponsible youths in Montreal seeking to escape their obligations, cannot be taken as indicating the true feelings of that part of the country.

No one, entering the voting booth on Monday, April 27, should do so with the spirit of revenge; either with the view of taking a backhand swipe at the Government or with the view of "getting even" with some section of Canada. Rather, the resolve should be a high one, the manifestation of a duty to be performed.

OPPORTUNITY TO SEE WAR WEAPONS

How many people in Vernon have ever seen a tank? A 25-pounder gun? An Army Ordnance workshop? Or any of the thousand-and-one modern implements of war?

In the entire Okanagan Valley not many people have yet had the opportunity of seeing for themselves the weapons being used by their sons or brothers or husbands or fathers in the defence of this land.

That opportunity will be presented in Vernon on Saturday morning next, April 18, when the Canadian Army train will be stationed here, thus affording everyone, hale or halt, old or young, a chance that should be utilized to the fullest possible extent.

In the two hours that are allotted for the Vernon visit, ample time will be given for a thorough inspection of the train and all its facilities—estimated to contain millions of dollars worth of weapons and equipment.

There are many cogent reasons why every adult should make a point of seeing the equipment displayed. This is the first occasion on which the vast majority of citizens in the valley will be enabled to see for themselves what their investment in Victory Loan and War Savings is doing for the Allied cause. Heretofore the best we have had are films and pictures; now we will see the real thing.

CANADA'S POSITION IN FALSE LIGHT

IN A RECENT issue, The Vernon News pointed out the need that exists today for a strong Canadian war publicity bureau in the United States, devoted freely and frankly to interpreting this country's role as an important member of the United Nations.

If any further evidence were required that action should no longer be delayed, it may be found in a book recently published and now widely reviewed and circulated in the United States. The title of this volume is "America and World Mastery" by John MacCormac, a former Canadian and now on the staff of that great newspaper, the New York Times.

If Mr. MacCormac's deductions are no more accurate than his facts, then this book will prove a very poor guide indeed. He first declares that Canada was forced into war at Britain's side by pressure from the Social Credit group at Ottawa; then goes on to accept as clear truth the old tale that the Government tried to get a statement from the British Government that no men would be needed from Canada.

Space does not allow the reprinting of further examples of this sort of stuff. But the two statements quoted above are sufficient to give patriotic Canadians pause to wonder why Canada's case is not presented more adequately in the United States.

Recently Canada's Director of Public Information, G. H. Lash, found it necessary to go on the radio over a national hookup to expose the lies given wide circulation in the U.S. that this country had blocked a legitimate expansion of an American airline to Alaska. This is but another example of deliberate distortion of the truth that should be vigorously corrected.

EMPRISE

Our Soldier Sons! What deed do they
To halt our steps and lift our eyes—
These lads who only yesterday
Faced years that reached to brilliant skies;
What quest is theirs—these Marching Sons—
To speed their step and lift their sight,
To grip the will—as onward runs
The marshalled strength of youthful might;
This then their deed: a Challenge flings
Its might against the darkened horde
That sweeps the skies on wanton wings
And cleaves the peace with lawless sword;
This then their quest: to gain the truth
Beyond the hate—the light whence gleams
A nobler day; a day when youth
May live its years to build its dreams.

LESS CRITICISM, MORE THOUGHT NEEDED

IN THIS spring of 1942, the world stands on the threshold of what observers in Allied, neutral, and enemy countries unanimously predict will see the most fateful campaigns of World War II. Apparently, we are not to be given until 1943 or 1944 to prepare our potentially overwhelming power against the Axis, but we must be ready with what we have now.

What we have—let us not deceive ourselves—may be far from what we should have, but in any event it must be great. Through all the long winter the factories of Britain were far from idle; the United States production is coming in volume; and lesser countries like Canada are rolling up impressive totals.

So while we undoubtedly will have reverses and many hard knocks, let us not unduly depress ourselves or, in our depression, criticize indiscriminately. A timely bit of advice along this line was contained in a recent issue of Collier's, the American magazine that has steadily pluggd for the Empire's cause. Selected paragraphs follow:

"This reporter, for one, has now heard enough jokes and beefs about our British allies to last till next Thanksgiving Day at least.

"Whenever we hear another of these japes, the thought goes thundering through the brain that we Americans haven't been so superior to the British in our conduct of the war to date that we can justly snoot them.

"The British pulled some awful boners in Malaya and in the short-lived defense of Singapore. But in two and a half years of war, the British have yet to surpass the boner of Pearl Harbor. And according to a broadcast by Martin Agronsky from Australia, a United States fighting ship in one of the early actions off Java found itself trying to struggle along under a Japanese dive-bomber attack with 1930 and 1931 ammunition which had been tested a year before and found to be only 30% effective. The Navy is now investigating this charge.

"Britain's famous old-school-tie boys, who cluttered up her government in such profusion until Churchill began weeding them out, and the equally famous Col. Blimps who still clutter up her army to some extent, have no doubt been responsible for a lot of Britain's griefs in this war. There is no objection that we can see to well-aimed gibes at these gentry, in the hope of cutting down their power to gum the British war effort.

"But we have a few Col. Blimps of our own, to say nothing of a few Admiral Tubbaguts and a selection of all but incredible stuffed shirts in high government circles. For all our vaunted flexibility and mental agility, we didn't pigeon-hole enough of these characters in time to avoid the Normandie disaster.

"And so it goes. Making allowance for the different lengths of time the two nations have been in the war, you can match boner for boner between the United States and Great Britain.

"Our two countries are in this war together, for better or for worse, and up to the neck. The more energy we refuse to waste in mutual recriminations, the more we'll save to spend on the Axis. Up to now, the Axis has shown itself capable of absorbing all the energy we've been able to send against it. It has also shown itself to be adept at making military capital out of every suspicion of inter-Allied friction."

Commentary: The Past And Future In Libya

On February 20, 1942, the Secretary of State for War stated in the House of Commons that all the Brigades of the 7th Armored Division, which fought the tank battle in Libya in November, 1941, were from the United Kingdom. They had travelled to Egypt by the long sea route around the Cape of Good Hope. The only factor which limited the number of men sent out of England was the amount of shipping available for their transportation.

The Secretary of State for War also disclosed that newer and better tank guns and an anti-tank gun of greater penetration power than any yet in use were in course of preparation. It is hoped that by now some of these guns may have reached Libya, for the present lull in the desert seems unlikely to last much longer. There are rumors that General Rommel is to take over the supreme command of all Axis forces in the Mediterranean, and he is believed to have been urging upon the Italian and German airman under Kesselring a vigorous attack on Suez. Great Axis activity in Tripoli, Catania, Naples, Taranto and other ports, British submarine operations in Italian waters and British patrol activity in the Libyan desert are indications of a coming engagement.

New Italian tank formations are said to have reached North Africa and the Germans may be expected to have made up much of the equipment which they lost in November. Though the Afrika Korps may not again reach the high state of efficiency it had before it met the 7th Armored Division, it will not be lacking in men and equipment. No detail of planning and preparation will be neglected by the enemy and it may not be long before the Axis forces will make their third bid to drive the British from the eastern Mediterranean.

The name has not yet been selected but "Kelowna" is suggested as a possible designation.

A Stain On Canada

Few Canadians are aware of the fact that there are, enclosed in camps in this country today, 1,179 men whose sole offence is that they were aliens resident in England in the summer of 1940. The round-up that took place there that year was due to the fear of sudden invasion and many hundreds of men and boys were shipped off to Canada as potential dangers to the state. The surprise, hurry and semi-panic of those days caused much suffering which could, at that time, be excused for reasons of high policy. But it is a degrading comment upon the Canadian and British Governments that, almost two years later, no decent policy has been devised to set right the wrongs of those days of fear.

The cases of these eleven hundred men have all been examined. They have all been classed as refugees. They are probably the most violent Nazi-funders in the world. Yet, because of a stumbling, fumbling lack of action in Canada and England, they remain in camps, wasting their talents, their morale being ruined by continued confinement. There were originally about fifteen hundred of these cases. More than a hundred have returned to Britain. More than a hundred have been released under sponsorship to continue their education. A handful have been released to Canadian industry. The rest are still in the camps. The primary responsibility rests upon Britain. There they were arrested and deported. Canada in 1940 acted solely as custodian. On the face of it, examination having proved their innocence, they should now go back to England where, surely, jobs can be found for them in the essential services of our war industry or in essential services of some kind. But it may be that obstacles stand in the way of carrying out such a policy. If that is so, Canada's responsibility has long since been more than that of being an inert host to unwilling guests. Cannot we use these men in some capacity or other? If we framed a positive policy, it is certain Britain would accept it, and the men could be released.

Is there not some way of giving them their liberty? Will we take them into our own armed forces? Failing that, why should they not be given their freedom and given jobs? What is stopping it? The answer, ludicrously enough, is that the Immigration laws prevent it. The Immigration laws! Sponsors apparently must be found. There must be no chance that any of these men should become public charges. Could anything be more absurd and unjust?

There are highly qualified doctors, professors, lawyers, engineers, biochemists, teachers, artists, musicians, cooks, dentists, carpenters, cobblers, tailors, barbers: a whole battalion of them. Can Canada find nothing for them to do? Have they got to eat their hearts out for years if they cannot find sponsors? Is there nothing in wartime Canada for more than a thousand men to do, men who have suffered in concentration camps or have fled from the Nazis, men whose lives are dedicated to the vital task of beating the enemy?

A battalion of our allies, herded into two camps in Quebec, almost two years after they were first arrested and a year after the last of them has been duly docketed as decent citizens of the free world. Britain is doing nothing, and Canada says its immigration laws can't be changed. Has anyone heard of the War Measures Act and the thousands of orders of detention which we are directing the lives of our citizens? But these eleven hundred men? Oh, no! They must, apparently, stay where they are.—Winnipeg Free Press.

A Grim, Ceaseless Struggle

(From an address by Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States)

I have spoken of the world-wide battle front. It must be plain to you that all this fighting in distant parts of the globe must play on its task. We have enough shipping; and well the Axis knows it. On all the seven seas the battle goes on day and night. It is a grim, ceaseless struggle against U-boats, surface raiders and far-ranging bombers.

Let us have a closer look at what it means. First of all, Great Britain, to wage war in this scale, to keep her workshops supplied with raw materials and her people fed, must import thirty to forty million tons of goods a year. Then, to keep whole armies fighting overseas, to reinforce them and send them supplies, we must maintain vast convoys of ships and get them across thousands of miles of ocean. In one period of twelve months, it took over 300 ships in continuous employment to keep the armies going in the Middle East. Three hundred ships! Most of them having to make the long haul round the Cape, which means only two or three trips a year.

It is not surprising that, from the huge troop transports to the tiny trawlers that sweep the home seas clear of mines, this merchant fleet of ours has been strained to the utmost to carry on its task. It is bound to be an agonizingly slow job. Take pursuit planes. People wonder why it takes so long to get them where they want them. But they can't fly across the ocean. So, although they themselves have a speed of anything up to 400 miles an hour, they have to do much of that journey in a ship in convoy with an average speed of eight knots or ten miles an hour.

There is another thing that must be kept in mind. The loss of the whole of Western Europe in 1940 imposed immensely longer hauls upon all our merchant shipping. Great quantities of war materials, a huge flow of lumber, eggs, butter and bacon that we were getting from near-by countries, have now to be brought three thousand miles from North America. Not only must we bring such goods three times the distance, but the little North Sea ships can't make the long Atlantic crossing. We have only two alternatives—build far more freighters, which can't be done overnight, or go without their cargoes.

As you know, the merchant fleet has not discharged its tremendous task without serious losses. The merchant seamen are as much in the front line today as any sailor, soldier, or air pilot. As a nation, we have always been proud of our merchant service. Today we are more proud than ever.

To protect these brave merchant seamen and their ships is one of the principal responsibilities of the British Navy. Never forget that all the time, they also have to enforce the blockade and seek out the warships of the enemy, and to carry out these duties the Navy keeps well over 600 ships continuously at sea in all kinds of weather.

AS I SEE IT.. By Captain Elmore Philpott

Montreal: I leave this province after nearly two weeks studying French Canadianians in this period of crisis. I have talked to scores of people individually, and I have talked at some thousands collectively. I am convinced more than ever that there is no reality to what is often called the French-Canadian problem.

There is no French-Canadian problem. There is a national Canadian problem in which the French Canadian are concerned. But it is as victims and not the cause of the problem.

The French Canadian does not think about the world in which he lives in exactly the same way as does his English-speaking compatriot. Until recently, it was the French Canadian who was the cause of the problem.

There is no French Canadian problem in the world to isolate him and isolate him from all contact with the outside. So, if we are inclined to be impatient at the fact that the French Canadian does not so readily accept the idea that he should send his sons across the sea to fight for the maintenance of world freedom on the battlefields of Europe, let us not forget that, until recently, Europe has seemed as far away from him as Mars seems from some of the rest of us.

In the above, I have referred, of course, to the simple French-Canadian peasant who is still the backbone of this province. And it is only now that this simple and fine soul is really beginning to realize that he has a vital stake in the outcome of this world war.

My own conviction is, from the evidence of my own ears and eyes, that the French-Canadian would be the easiest man in all the world to convince of the rightness or wrongness of a simple proposition. He is not convinced today. And the reason he is not convinced today can be attributed to a trinity of iniquity. That trinity of iniquity includes organized hypocritical politics, centralized and sinister finance, and the more short-sighted wing of the Ecclesiastical machine.

There are those who take deep offence when anyone criticizes any branch of the Roman Catholic Church. So I hasten to point out that, if this province is on the very eve of one of the greatest changes in all history—if it is true that it will make more progress in the next generation than almost any other part of the Western World—and I believe that it is true, that is because the whole Catholic Church is not reactionary and not blind to the realities and necessities of these times.

In other words, the leadership that is going to make these people take their proper place in Canadian and world affairs is coming, not from the outside, but from the inside. It is not coming from militant Protestants, coercing French-Canadian Catholics. It is coming from young and enlightened Catholics of both sexes.

The most vicious obstacle to French Canadian progress here, in my opinion, is in centralized finance.

But the most important immediate member of the trinity of iniquity is in the dishonest, hypocritical, political set-up of Canada which has used French Canada as the ever-ready excuse to play its own selfish game.

All political parties have prostituted themselves in their handling of Quebec. With utter shamelessness, they have said one thing in Quebec and exactly the opposite in the other parts of Canada. At the moment the Liberals deserve most of the blame. For it is the Liberal Party which has created this psychopathic war of the Union Jack, at the very same moment when its spokesmen like the late Armand Lavergne were promising to shoot the British flag full of holes.

This heritage of hypocrisy is not going to be easy to sweep away with one gust of wind. Unfortunately, the anti-line parties showed little disposition even to attempt the job.

Mr. Mackenzie King has appealed to the country for a "yes" vote in the coming plebiscite. La Presse, which has 175,000 circulation assures its readers the next day in a two-column headline on the front page that a "yes" vote on the coming plebiscite does not imply conscription. In other words, they are at exactly the same old game again. They are trying to get themselves out of the hopeless entanglement which has been created by political sleight of hand and back-stepping by the anti-conscriptionists. They are condemning the political felony.

And the reaction of the average French-Canadian is the same as that given to me by a taxi driver the other day: "I am going to vote 'no' to put that son of a b— King on the spot. Because he knows he has to have conscription but he won't come right out and tell us so."

In my opinion, the present Government, even as this late date, could get a clear-cut "yes" majority in the Province of Quebec. But it could only do so if it went to the people on a far more frank and honest basis than it has yet shown any disposition to do.

It is significant of the exact state of the political set-up in Canada that the Government is doing most of its fighting in Quebec in secret and not in public. Mr. King is trying hard to get a "yes" vote in this province. But the most of the fighting is being waged by the Liberal Party against the provincial wing as led by Mr. Godbout. Tremendous strides have been made in the past few weeks to transform what was once hostility to conscription at least to a neutral neutrality on the plebiscite issue.

Yesterday I was told by one who knows the province that Mr. Godbout had recently threatened to resign if the conscription issue were pressed too hard. That may be a sheer cock and bull story. In any event, he has swung far in the direction of co-operation with Mr. King. My own conviction is that, if Mr. King were personally to go out on the public platform in all of the centres where opposition to the war is supposed to be the strongest, that he could gain a "yes" vote by an overwhelming majority.

He could not do so as a party politician. He would have to have with him leaders of the Conservative and C.O.P. parties. And he would have to tell these people simply and honestly exactly what we intended to do in the war and why.

All that has been accomplished so far in the plebiscite campaign is to make confusion worse confounding. The anti-conscriptionists are appealing to the French-Canadian to release them from the restriction against conscription on the ground that such an action

RAIN NEEDED FOR ORCHARDS IN SOUTH OLIVER, B.C., April 11.—Fruit trees are rapidly catching up on last year's timetable when the first apricot blooms appeared two weeks earlier in the season than this year.

Warm weather is bringing the trees along quickly, and cherries are now in bloom as well as apricots and peaches. Fruit buds on the pear trees are swelling rapidly and will be open soon.

Some growers are already pouring on the irrigation water where soil is sandy and dries out quickly, or where new trees and vegetable crops are planted.

Not a drop of rain has fallen this spring, and if the drought continues all orchards will need water at an early date.

Varied Program At Meeting Of Enderby Hospital Auxiliary

Mrs. C. Richards Donates Sheets—Thanks Expressed To Former Matron

ENDERBY, B.C., April 13.—Members of the local Hospital Auxiliary held their regular monthly meeting in the City Hall on Tuesday afternoon. The regular officers presided, and following routine business, it was decided to publish a vote of thanks to all those who had so generously donated and taken part in making the Hospital Day "At Home" such a success. The buying committee reported that the material purchased for the hospital had not yet been made up, as it was decided to re-order other material. In the meantime, however, Mrs. C. Richards donated a number of baby sheets which she had made, to be used until the others were decided upon.

The Baptist Church ladies were thanked for doing the hospital mending, the bee being held at the home of Mrs. Penner on the previous Thursday afternoon. It was also decided that a letter be written to the former matron, Mrs. B. David, R.N., for all the co-operation she had given the auxiliary during her employment as matron in the local hospital.

In view of the fact that there were not as large a number present as necessary it was decided to hold a special meeting on Monday afternoon, in the City Hall, to make final arrangements for the May bazaar, which will be held on the second Saturday in May instead of the first Saturday as heretofore.

Following the game a banquet and dance was put on as a final round of entertainment for the visitors, and the local girls, although they were pleased they had won, felt that they had lost it would have been to a good sporting team.

TRINITY VALLEY, B.C., April 10.—Twin calves were born to a cow at the Saunders ranch this week. This is the third time that twin calves have appeared in this herd, each time from a different cow.

There seems to be an unusual number of bluebirds visiting the valley this year. Signaller Jim Grant is visiting his parents here on leave from a camp at Victoria.

Roads are getting better though there are still a few bad spots where the roads are much shaded. Bush work is keeping several people busy and conditions for work in the forests are excellent.

CHAMPION BULL PURCHASED BY KAMLOOPS FIRM

Bulman Bros. Bring Hereford Bull From Calgary Stock Sale

KAMLOOPS, B.C., April 11.—Bulman Bros. have returned from the Calgary bull sale with the grand champion Hereford bull of the sale, Donald Domino 128789. As far as is known this is the first time a grand champion of the Calgary sale has come to British Columbia. According to those who were at the sale this animal was outstanding, easily taking the lead over all others in the judging. Bidding opened at $1,000 and was brisk up to $1,500. From then on it was a run between Bulman Bros. and a prairie cattleman. The sale was made to Bulmans at $1,900.

Alex. Bulman, who attended the sale with his brother, Joe Bulman of Westwood, says that if they had failed to get a prize-winner at Calgary they were prepared to go to the United States to get the type of bull they were after. American Hereford men who were in Calgary for the sale declared that the grand champion would have sold for well over $2,000 in the Hereford country of the United States.

MOTORIST DAMAGES HYDRANT IN CRASH

Charged with failing to make out a report within 24 hours after an accident, Gordon Leek appeared before Magistrate William Morley in Police Court on Monday morning and was found guilty. The fine was set at $22.25.

The accident occurred on April 7, at 3 o'clock in the morning when Leek was returning from playing in the orchestra at the Swan Lake Hall. The accident report was not made out until four days later.

Leek said that as he was driving down Pleasant Valley road a car approached him with blazing headlights. He thought the approaching car was going to hit him and so he slammed on the brakes and slid into a fire hydrant at the side of the road.

Q. Grierson, foreman of the city waterworks department, appeared in court and said that the hydrant was broken so badly that it was useless and that the cost of a replacement was slightly over $100.

The Provincial Police investigated the accident and found the car several days after the accident had occurred. Constable R. Timm said that not until he had found the car and the owner, was the accident report made out.

Don't Let Your Liver Make You an Invalid

People who are off colour say they're liverish or their liver is bad! Do you know how serious this is—that it may lead to permanent ill health—your whole system poisoned and broken down?

Your liver is the largest organ in your body and most important to your health. It supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands. If unhealthy, your body lacks this energy and becomes enfeebled—youthful vim disappears. Again your liver pours out bile to digest food, get rid of waste and allow proper nourishment to reach your blood. When your liver gets out of order proper digestion and nourishment stop—you're poisoned with the waste that decomposes in your intestines. Nervous troubles and rheumatic pains arise from this poison. You become constipated, stomach and kidneys can't work properly. The whole system is affected and you feel "rotten," head-achy, back-achy, dizzy, tired out—a ready prey for sickness and disease.

Thousands of people are never sick, and have won prompt relief from these miseries with "Improved Fruit-a-lives Liver Tablets." The liver is toned up, the other organs function normally and lasting good health results. Today "Improved Fruit-a-lives" are Canada's largest selling liver tablets. They must be good. Try them yourself NOW. Let "Fruit-a-lives" put you back on the road to lasting health—feel like a new person. 25c, 50c.

I was always irritable, tired, head-achy. I could not eat or sleep well and had very severe constipation. After trying many medicines I found "Fruit-a-lives." My headaches and constipation have disappeared and I am never tired or irritable now.

PENTICTON MAN CO-ORDINATOR FOR MACHINISTS

C. J. "Cliff" Wilkins To Act On Behalf Of Pentiction And District Firms

PENTICTON, B.C., April 11.—C. J. "Cliff" Wilkins was appointed "co-ordinator" for this district to act on behalf of local firms interested in war work at a meeting of representatives of Pentiction machine shops and service stations held in the police magistrate's office recently.

Convened by Frank McDonald, head of the Pentiction Board of Trade, the industrial committee, this gathering followed quickly on the heels of the announcement that Mr. Wilkins had received the first sub-contract awarded in this district by wartime industries.

Decision of the meeting was that Mr. Wilkins appoint a committee to seek work in addition to that placed by surveys made by the Board of Trade in an effort to secure maximum production and to find work for every type of machine.

Comptroller Ian Sutherland, John Scott, and "Bert" were named to act on this committee. The machine shop and foundry manager indicated that he could secure sufficient orders and labor to keep his foundry working at capacity and that by "farming out" the castings for machining, efficient and rapid results could be obtained.

Lumby Community Club Concludes Successful Year

L. J. Prior Re-elected President—Net Capital—$7,000—No Debts

LUMBY, B.C., April 9.—Announced by forty of the fifty paid-up members for the 1941-42 year, the Lumby Community Club annual meeting took place in the Community Hall, Thursday evening, April 9. Annual reports, the financial statement and election of directors were the main business items on the agenda.

In his report, the President, L. J. Prior, outlined the activities of the club during the past year. Although membership had fallen to a low total in 1941-42 the current canvass had already resulted in a substantial increase for 1942-43.

The fact that two directors, Perry Swift, president, and W. O. Richardson had left the club since the last annual meeting, made reorganization necessary.

Continuing his report, the president stated that twenty meetings had been held by the directors during their term of office and that one social evening had been sponsored. The Lumby Community Club affairs, especially Dominion Day Celebration and New Year's Eve dance had proved successful. Owing to co-operation with health authorities during the infantile paralysis outbreak considerable revenue for the Lumby Labor Lay dance had been lost.

Among the activities of the Club in 1941-42 the following were mentioned: Formation of a local soft ball league, sponsoring of a Rural Occupational School, organization of a local clean-up week, operation of the skating rink, establishment of a Pro Rec Centre, arranging for cemetery care, investigation of the street lighting problem.

Improvements to the hall had included work on the stage, installation of new lighting, purchase of folding chairs and shingling of the kitchen roof. Donations to community efforts had also been made, these including the Red and Gun Club; Red Cross Society; High School; hockey club and the Occupational School. The reports of a total of two hundred dollars had been invested in the Victory Loan of 1941.

DIRECTORS' WORK PRAISED

Concluding with a statement of policy which the directors had tried to follow and recommendations for the following year, the President paid tribute to the co-operation of the directors the support of the public in attending Community Club functions. "I do not believe that any one of us will ever knowingly fail to do the work of those who pioneered the Society, past unrewarded and unrecognized," the President concluded.

The financial statement and report of the Secretary—Treasurer, W. H. Pickering, showing receipts of nearly $1,500 and expenditures, including investments, of nearly $1,400, was approved by the meeting. Total net capital of the society is over seven thousand dollars with no debts outstanding.

Other reports approved by the meeting included those of the Hall Committee, given by Mrs. W. H. Pickering; Sports by Joe Martin, and Street Lighting by George Brisco. Mention of damage to club property was made and co-operation of members in helping keep this damage at a minimum was asked.

Proceeding to the election of directors the meeting re-elected L. J. Prior, W. H. Pickering, J. O. Deschamps, Mrs. W. H. Pickering, G. Brisco, P. Morrison, and added E. R. Pierce, C. D. Bloom, S. Haggart and J. Hogg. Joe Martin was elected by the meeting to head a special membership committee.

After discussion, the meeting instructed the directors to arrange for the compilation of an authentic history of the Community Club. Co-chairing the meeting, members accorded the directors a vote of thanks for their services in the past year.

NEW BOARD MEET

First meeting of the new Board of Directors of the Lumby Community Club was held in the Community Hall Thursday evening, April 9, immediately following the annual meeting.

Election of officers and committee chairmen resulted as follows: President, L. J. Prior; Vice-president, C. D. Bloom; Secretary-Treasurer, W. H. Pickering; building, J. O. Deschamps; grounds, J. Hogg; Hall rentals, Mrs. W. H. Pickering; entertainment, E. R. Pierce; sports, G. Brisco; publicity and advertising, J. Prior; membership, J. Martin.

A decision to plant shade trees along the west boundary of the property was made by the directors who referred the question to the grounds committee for action. Sponsoring of the second annual Clean up week was also agreed upon and the president was given authority to proceed with this campaign.

After some discussion, directors authorized the sports committee to spend up to $10 in starting a local softball league.

A representative of the High School Students' Council will be invited to attend meetings of the Directors in the future.

"MAN WHO CAME TO DINNER" BRINGS A FEAST OF FUN

Imagine Bette Davis, Ann Sheridan, four penguins, the only bearded star in Hollywood, a mummy case, the biggest nose in movies, an octopus and a giant tree! pilled high with Christmas gifts and you'll have some idea of the going on in the picture called "The Man Who Came To Dinner," which ran as a play for two years on Broadway and the road. The Warner Bros. film version opens on Monday, April 20, and plays for three days at the Capitol Theatre.

Monty Woolley, of the New York production, is the bearded star, and it is he who creates the havoc in a perfectly blissful family, when, invited to dinner, he slips on an icy porch and breaks his hip.

Confined to his chair, Monty makes his stay to dinner something to be remembered.

USE OF CREAM CANS NOW REGULATED BY DOMINION RULINGS

A new order respecting cream cans has been published by the Dominion Government. It is now an offence for a farmer to put anything other than milk or cream into a cream can. The fine is not less than $50 and not more than $100 or 30 days in prison or both fine and prison.

It is equally an offence for a dairy or creamery to use a patron's cans or to use cans belonging to another creamery or dairy. It is just as much an offence for a dairy or creamery or other dairy products plant to hold cans belonging to a patron or to another plant.

Dairy plants are warned to keep cans under lock and key and farmers are instructed not to leave cans on roadside or in any place where they may be picked up by thieves. The cream can shortage is drastic and severe steps are being taken by the government to adjust it as far as possible.

EWING'S LANDING NOTES

EWING'S LANDING, B.C., April 14.—Allan Muirhead is acting as enumerator for the voters list to be used in the forthcoming plebiscite. Easier services will be held in the Ewing's Landing Hall, on Sunday next, April 19. Rev. Canon H. C. Gibson will officiate.

BANK MAGAZINE TELLS OF VALLEY ORCHARDS

An article on "Apple Growing in the Okanagan Valley," the Orchard of Western Canada, by J. N. Taylor, Manager of the Vernon Branch of the Bank of Montreal, occupies a prominent position in the Bank of Montreal staff magazine for April, 1942.

As befitting a spring time publication the article is profusely illustrated with spring time orchard scenes of exceptional beauty, and a fine view of the famous "Coldstream" district near Vernon.

Mr. Taylor's article describes the growth of the apple industry in the Okanagan from a single acre of apples in 1908 to a 6,000,000 box crop in 1942, valued up to $5,700,000.

After telling of the province's necessities and modern practices in horticulture the article concludes with a statement by Dr. Josiah Oldfield, one of England's foremost food experts, who stated that "apples were the most important food import to Britain in the Great War," and as this war is again more a "war of nerves" he added "British stamina, courage, endurance and heart for the war depend on complete nerve sustenance. Apples, lemons and oranges are immeasurably the most important fruits which are nerve foods and without the presence of these physiological functions food apples are superior to either lemons or oranges and cannot be replaced by any other fruit. It will be a grave risk to Britain if her supply of apples is cut off."

"We cannot all grow our own apples, but every descendant of Adam should know of the pleasure and benefits to his health to be derived from their regular consumption. At the same time a multitude of worthy growers will be assisted to repay their orchard loans and immediately bring to the bank managers who grant them a cheerful outlook."

"Here's success to the grower, health to the consumer, more power to foot notes."

WOMEN WAGE EARNERS SUBJECT TO ROAD TAX IN PENTICTON AREA

PENTICTON, B.C., April 11.—Penticton wage earning women are now liable for a two dollar municipal road tax.

The by-law enforcing this new levy was reconsidered and finally passed by the Council at its last regular meeting.

The Council has adopted the attitude that the tax is not being applied simply because of the expected $800 revenue, but considered it "only fair" as male wage earners pay an annual five dollar poll tax.

According to the bylaw, which was registered in county court last Thursday, every female person over the age of 21 years and under the age of 60 years, residing for a period of at least two weeks within the corporate limits of the municipality and who receives an income, salary, or wage, shall pay to the corporation at or before December 31 of each year the two dollar tax.

Owners of land within the municipality, however, are exempt from the levy.

OTTAWA ANNOUNCES EXTRA SUGAR FOR PRESERVING TIME

Special provisions for use of sugar in home preserving of fruits, forecast when the rationing order was put in effect last January, have been announced in Ottawa by S. R. Noble, sugar administrator of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

In addition to the amount of sugar allowed under rationing regulations, any person may purchase such quantity of sugar as necessary for the household preserving, canning or making into jams and jellies, of any fruits, subject to these provisions:

Purchases of sugar for preserving or canning shall be on the basis one-half pound of sugar for every pound of fruit weight. All home canning or preserving syrup methods must be done in a light syrup, defined as a syrup made of one part sugar to two parts of water.

Purchases of sugar for jam or jelly are to be on the basis of three-quarters of a pound of sugar for every pound of fruit weight, and all home-made jams and jellies are to be preserved with three parts of sugar to four of fruit or juice.

The normal sugar ration is three-quarters of a pound a week per person.

HOUSEWIVES TOLD HOW BEST TO SERVE

Canadian housewives, biggest Army unit on the home front, are asking, "How can we best serve?" The consumer branch of Wartime Prices and Trade Board advises:

Buy as carefully and intelligently as you know how.

Don't be a hoarder, or start rumors about impending shortages. You can create shortages that way.

Don't waste anything. Salvage anything you can.

Get as much out of your possessions as possible.

If you cannot use something you have, or make it over, give it to someone who can use it.

Buy as many war savings certificates and stamps as possible.

A Friendly Chat Among Women

(By Cousin Rosemary)

(By Cousin Rosemary)

I read the other day, with slight amazement and incredulity, that the Easter lily, which we always associate with this season of the year, have been in the past imported from the Orient. And there will be no more of them until after the war.

Speaking of plants and growing things, brings to mind our houseplants, so dear to the heart of most housewives.

Any flowering bulbs we may have had to cheer the last days of winter should be allowed to die down. This is known as ripening. Do not water. They should then be planted in a corner of the garden, where they will bloom next year.

With regard to our other house plants, this is a good time to repot them. Use about half an inch of broken crockery or pebbles, and a layer of charcoal in the bottom of the pot. The plants will appear to have little or no roots, in which case a container one size larger is advisable; but don't let this disturb you. The principle thing is to have the soil combination as stated above, and not let them get dry.

In this connection, water them once a day, or at intervals sufficient to keep the soil always black. Do not let them stand in water for any length of time, although a weekly immersion in a tub of water for about an hour is a very good practice to follow.

The exception to this rule is the cactus, which should never be watered under any circumstances but from the top, and the asparagus fern likes "wet feet" part of the time.

Now with regard to sun. Being blessed as we are with so much sunshine, we are inclined to forget sometimes that a plant in a window facing south is exposed to much heat and light. Some plants like this, but many do not. The fuchsia does not like too much sun, and the familiar patience plant becomes bleached and pale if subjected to either too much heat or sun. By this I do not mean to keep them in the dark, or in gloomy halls. All plants must have light and warmth; but there is a line to be drawn between this, and the glare and heat of the sun from now on through a window. Patience plants should be nipped back occasionally, and never allowed to become dry. They are also very sensitive as to cold, but this need not enter into the discussion at this time of the year.

Do not put plants which have been in the house all winter outside too soon. One winter does not make a summer, and one warm day may be followed by a dull and windy one, a shock to the growth which has known room temperature all winter.

The foliage of house plants gets dusty. Furthermore, the plants breathe through the leaves. A dry watering can with a spray of infinitesimal holes can be used to wash them off. Place plant in sink and very gently spray it. And while on the subject of watering, always "take the chill" out of the water. Cold water straight from the tap at practically all seasons of the year is a shock to the roots and retards growth.

I used to have a friend—a Scotch lady—whose houseplants surprised any I have ever seen. Constant daily care was her watchword; and every few days, she added some water to the tepal after each watering. She kept her plants, another point to remember, in a room where the surface of the soil about once a week. An old table fork is a good tool for this purpose.

You know, with houseplants, the same rule applies as to the little farmer's wife with her "green thumb." The Irish term expressing luck with growing things. She possibly lacks experience, and is certainly short of expensive aids and appliances, often growing the most beautiful plants in Jan tin.

The secret is just loving them, which goes hand in hand with no hint of neglect. Fussing over them, moving them to suitable locations according to their tastes as to sunshine and light; protecting them from frost and draught in winter, and never, under any circumstances, allowing them to become dry—these are worth all the scientific pills and aids to quick growth ever perfected in the most modern and adequate of greenhouses.

Many of you had the pleasure of hearing Miss Audrey Mildmay in recital here; others did not. In the latter group was a girl friend who asked the mundane question, "How was she dressed?"

As we are interested in personal details and impressions not otherwise included in press coverage, I can record here that she wore a pale blue skirt. Same hue, V-neck of usual daytime depth, with small clip and bracelet-length sleeves. The skirt which touched the floor, had a pleated poplin, and was slashed at the hem.

As a child, she lived in Vernon, where her father, in addition to being pastor of All Saints' Church, was master of a boys' school housed in what is now the Rectory. She also has personal links with Monte Creek.

It does not seem to matter whether people are famous or just ordinary. They have the same fundamental urges, and Miss Mildmay, who in private life is Mrs. Christie, with her children, left their beautiful and famous country home in Sussex for the safety of our own interior.

When singing "The White Cliffs of Dover," I thought, perhaps imagined—but I don't think so—a conviction in the promise of happier days, which, please God—are to come. . . . And a wishfulness when she sang of "Jimmy," who will play his own little room again. Possibly she was thinking of her own particular "Jimmy"—now far from his own "little room."

We pay so much attention nowadays as to what we should not eat, thinking of our figures—that we do not give sufficient consideration as to what we should have to keep ourselves in good shape for top vitality and efficiency, which is now so important.

Rita Hille Kleeman, addressing the U.S. National Federation of Business and Professional Women, had this to say: "Every business woman every day should consume six glasses of milk, one portion whole grain or enriched bread or cereal, one large portion meat, fish or poultry, one egg or an ounce of cheese, three large portions of vegetables and two portions of fruit."

This is worth remembering.

ALL SAINTS' BAZAAR HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

$254 Realized From Annual Easter Guild Event In Burns' Hall

The sum of $254, said by the ladies in charge to be well above the average, was realized by All Saints' Church Easter bazaar in Burns' Hall, on Saturday afternoon.

The bazaar, which is a semi-annual event, was sponsored for the first time on this occasion by the Junior Guild of All Saints' Church, the President being Miss B. Coggeshall. The Guild undertook the responsibility for the entire affair and the amount of detail and work thereby entailed must be experienced to be realized.

Small tables, gay with vases of forsythia, were placed in the centre of the building, at which tea was served, and around the sides were stalls of varied merchandise.

The stall, featuring children's dresses, hats, and other garments suitable for active juveniles, as well as for babies, including many knitted articles, and sponsored by the Junior Guild, was in charge of Mrs. N. J. Carey, Miss M. Gibson convened a stall of articles, the work of the Senior Guild.

The "good eats" on the table devoted to home-cooking found early and ready sale, particularly the delicious home-made bread. In fact, this stall was completely sold out before the conclusion of the afternoon, and was in the capable hands of Mrs. A. H. Barber. The produce department, sponsored by the men's committee of All Saints' Church, displayed roasts of meat, eggs, butter and vegetables. The superlative, or "white elephant" display was in the hands of the A.Y.P.A., Mrs. Douglas Kernode in charge.

A distinct feature for the many garden lovers of this city was the stall of perennial and other plants, conveyed by Mrs. M. DeBeek. Two competitions, organized by Mrs. F. E. C. Wood and Mrs. Gordon Fox, were added attractions.

The daintily served afternoon tea was the highlight of the affair, also in the hands of the Junior Guild, Mrs. J. Shuttlesworth, conveying refreshments, cakes and other delicacies were made and donated by the members of the Guild, who acted as servers.

A few children's summer dresses, cotton hats and other little garments are left over from the sale, and may still be purchased.

For The Bride

Miss Joy Clark was taken completely by surprise on Friday evening, April 10, when upwards of a dozen friends tendered her a shower at the home of Miss Norah Davidson, Pleasant Valley Road. A bride in the near future, Miss Clark was the recipient of lingerie and other personal accessories. These were arranged tastefully on a small table, centred with flowers. Delicious refreshments and a social time brought the evening to a conclusion.

Miss Joy Clark was honored at a theatre party and shower on Monday last, the hostess being Miss Joan Montague, of Vernon. Several of the 16 guests attended the first show at the Capitol Theatre on that evening, afterwards proceeding to Miss Montague's home, where they were joined by the remainder of the party. The gifts were of a personal character, and were presented to the guest of honor in a club bag. Daffodils and forsythia were used effectively as decorations, and dainty refreshments were later served, Miss Norah Davidson pouring.
